

PROJECT SHEET : INTEGRATED SCHOOL CONCEPT

A SCHOOL, A SCHOOL FARM, A SCHOOL GARDEN

In Laos, education's indicators are unfavourable in mountain regions and remote areas (Northern and Southern provinces)

The attitude of parents has often caused by lack of visibility on the interest to spend hours at school to study something that they do not see very well what may be its usefulness for the community in everyday life.

The presence of a vegetable garden and a small livestock farm radically change the perception of the role of the school and encourages parents to stimulate their children to go and stay in the school.

For that reason, we propose a concept of " Integrated School "

In addition, growing vegetables and raising a few animals allows the school to have its own income, the result of a community work on the part of students and teachers. Funding for textbooks and a school library becomes possible, as well as school maintenance.

Budget : School building, Farm, first animals (5) , first initial food.

US $ 32'000
